

ALL TORN UP.

THE AGNES HERNDON COMPANY IN A PECK OF TROUBLE.

Three Attachments Resting on the Receipts and Property—Constable Manley Detains Miss Herndon; Justice Jessie's Suit Challenged—Miss Herndon's Room Searched for Valuables—An Internal Rival in the Company—The Facts of the Case.

The Agnes Herndon Comedy Company, playing at Poy's Theater this week, is, to say an adequate phrase, all torn up. It is disturbed by internal dissensions and external attacks. This morning there were two attachments on the property of the company and on the personal property of Miss Herndon and her husband and manager, Mr. Jessie. The comedian of the company sat in his room at the Merchants' Hotel in his shirt sleeves and in his stocking feet while Manager Jessie sported his coat and shoes on the street, and two members of the company expect to quit the organization-to-night because of personal quarrels with Miss Herndon.

TOOK THE MANAGER'S CLOTHES.

One of the features of the attraction is the visit of the manager, who, with the costume of a dresser, and last evening before the curtain went up an attachment was served by Constable Manley of Justice McCaffrey's Court on the wardrobe and properties on a writ issued in favor of Thomas Dillon for $35. A watchman was posted in the theater and the performance proceeded as usual. But Constable Manley did not stop there, but went further. He waited until the manager and star could get to their rooms and until he thought they would likely be divested of all their clothing and then served attachments on their personal effects. To do this he had to go to two hotels as Mr. and Mrs. Jessie do not live together. Miss Herndon or Mrs. Jessie stopped at the Lindell and Mr. Jessie at the Merchants' Hotel, on Twelfth and Olive. Mrs. Jessie, in speaking of this, rather unkindly, observed: "It was an arrangement as it was impossible for them to disagree." The manager, however, and wife the relation existing between them is purely one of business.

Constable Manley remained at the Merchants' Hotel until about 1 o'clock this morning and went straight to Manager Jessie's room. Mr. Jessie was taking his ease in his room and was wearing nothing but a nightcap, a hat, coat or shoes, and with his overcoat lying on him for warmth. The Constable leaped over everything, which was a handsome figure, but in the bustle over it Mr. Jessie, who is small and lively, came out victorious. Miss Herndon, however, who, however, took everything else, and marched off with the manager's trunk, valise, and bag, and his socks if he had half a chance. The things were thrown into a wagon and were hauled away. The Constable, who had been sent to the Lindell, Miss Herndon was absent and they could not levy on her clothing, and she was a little short of money. The bill of exchange made by the latter included only a couple of solid under-garments. The baggage was not to be seen.

THE SECOND ATTACHMENT.

This morning, at 7 o'clock another attachment was made on the property of the Agnes Herndon Company by the Indianapolis Great Western Printing Company on a bill of $62 for printing. The writ was served by Constable D. Fox of the theater, where the company was placed on the stage, and also personally on the manager and the star. An arrangement was made with the management that the manager's personal appearance this afternoon was given without molestation, and the evening performance will also be given should nothing else happen.

Mr. Jessie, however, was not to be seen this morning, and, having no time to wait for him, the Constable, who is a pugnacious, black-haired, black-mustached man with quick, nervous manner, took the manager's coat, shoes, and overcoat this morning, and, borrowing the coat, shoes and hat of Mr. T. H. Thurlow, the black-face comical of the company, he went to the office of ex-Gov. P. Johnson to get him to act as his attorney in the matter. He remained away from his hotel all day. Some alarms were sounded that he had come home, but he still had his smile and his confident air as always when he left his room. Speaking of the attachment, he shrugged his shoulders, and waving his hands with a characteristic gesture, and on a piano with his chin he remarked: "What can you do? Everything belongs to Mr. Jessie. He is my attorney. Whether he has got anything to do with the property, I have nothing to do with it."

Richardson, of Lexington, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

are: James Fitzgerald of Exeter, Morgan County, died last Tuesday. He was about 60 years of age. He was a small estate, consisting of a small tract of land, some live stock, and more or less personal property, but has a daughter residing in St. Louis, whose address is not known. The deceased's friends

St. Louis Post-Dispatch,

Published by THE DISPATCH PUBLISHING CO., JOSEPH PULTER, President.(Entered at the Post-Office at St. Louis, Mo., as second-class mail matter.)TERMS OF THE DAILY.
One year, postage paid, every afternoon and Sunday morning..... $10.00 Six months..... 5.00
Three months..... 2.50
By the week (delivered by carrier)..... 2.00 Sunday Edition by carrier..... 2.00 Subscribers who fail to receive the paper regularly will confer a favor upon us by reporting the same to this office by postal card.

THE WEEKLY.

One year, postage paid..... $1.00
Six months, postage paid..... 50 cents All business or news letters or telegrams should be addressedPOST-DISPATCH, 515 and 517 Market street.

TELEPHONE NUMBERS.

General Rooms..... 501 Business Office..... 505
London Office, 39 Cockspur Street, Charing Cross.

HIGH-WATER MARK, 54,420.

The circulation of the DAILY POST-DISPATCH in the City of St. Louis is larger every week than that of any other newspaper in the City.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1888.

AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT.

OLYMPIA—“Hold by the Enemy.”
GRAND—Mrs. D. P. Bowers.
PROGRESSIVE—“The King’s Ring.”
POPS—“A Masquerade.”
STANDARD—“Crimes of a Great City.”
PEOPLES—“My Aunt Bridget.”
POPS—“Forgiven.”
STANDARD—“Crimes of a Great City.” CASINO—Novelty Company.The indications for twenty-four hours, commencing at 3 p.m. to-day, for Missouri are: Local snows followed by fair weather in the southern portion; fair weather followed by local snows in the northern portion; light to fresh easterly winds, becoming variable; warmer.

GOOD WORDS.

The SUNDAY Post-Dispatch on Sunday, February 5, received and printed 55,104 words of telegraph, obtained from the following sources:Number words.
Specials received in-office..... 31,94 Specials by leased wire..... 6,000 Received by messenger..... 10,813
Other sources..... 6,36

Total..... 55,104

Perhaps JOHN L. SULLIVAN will now revise his flattering decision touching the social status of the Prince of Wales.The way of the ballot-box staffers is not easy. In spite of their staunch friends in official positions they continue to go to the penitentiary.How will it profit the Municipal Assembly to withhold Recorder WILLIAMS, pay and then get no benefit from the fraudulent registrations?The members of the House of Delegates did not pass a vote of thanks to the Post-Dispatch last night, but they walked home, which amounted to the same thing.The two pending charter amendments are of the highest importance to the welfare and growth of St. Louis, and every voter should be prepared to vote intelligently on them.When Editor GRADY reaches this city and rolls up his sleeves for the local opposition fight he will be prepared to take a tint with any one who says there is any beauty about him.DEMOCRATIC members of the Council who allow themselves to be bulldozed into voting against the appropriation for revision of the fraudulent registration books are making the mistake of a lifetime.The forged registration names are being stripped off by the thousand; no thanks to the Municipal Assembly, no thanks to the Hendricks Association, no thanks to Comptroller CAMPBELL and no thanks to His Honor the Mayor.Mr. C. P. HUNTINGTON still thinks that the Government owes the Central Pacific Railroad many millions of dollars. Mr.
HUNTINGTON should have a suit instituted for the recovery of the amount due. It would doubtless elicit some interesting testimony.Some of the war-tariff shouters should apply for positions as reporters on the Chicago Tribune. Col. MEDILL could doubtless give them some important “pointers” concerning the subject about which they talk so much. It is sad that his power as an educator should be wasted on such a large proportion of his party.Dr. McGLYNN says that there must be an Anti-Poverty candidate for President, and that HENRY GEORGE shall not be the choice. This means that Dr. McGLYNN must be the man. It used to be said in New York that HENRY GEORGE was carried around town like a man musiqued bear, but now the bear gentlemen who stand and proclaim its independence. The CLEARY is non-committal about the new Republican party, but the Republicans are in agreement with him. He never “falls in” with the sub-picion that he has secured an engagement as a tail to the Republican kite.The Queen’s speech announced that Parliament would be asked to pass laws “for preventing undue preference in rates charged by railways on foreign and domestic produce, for remedying abuses in the formation of companies under the ‘limited liability act, and for amending the law of liability of employers in cases of accident.” There is loud complaint from British farmers and others that more is charged for hauling their produce from intermediate stations to London than is charged on imported produce or goods from the seaports to London. There, as here, the railroads allege that competition compels them to accept through traffic at low and unremunerative rates, and that they have a right to recoup from way traffic which is at their mercy. This gives foreign competition an undue advantage over the unprotected British producer. The multiplication of business corporations under England’s general incorporation law is no doubt engendering evils there as here, though in that slow country the irresponsible monopoly trust device has not yet attained such development as in the faster and more feverish life of America. As for the employers’ liability law, England is already ahead of Missouri that.

METROPOLITAN PRESS.

What the Editors of the New York Journal Say This Morning.

By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, February 11.—THE WORLD says: “If a stopping of the revolution, a reform of the tariff and a reform in the civil service be not essential, nothing is essential. Upon these things there should be an agreement and action if the Democratic party is to be true to its name and its pledges. ‘In essential unity, in non-essentials liberty, in all things charity,’ is a motto as good in politics as in religion.
But the essentials should not be treated as trivial.”The Times says, speaking of the British treasury: “The political dynamite that was supposed to blow up the system exploded in the hands of the politicians in Washington and the embezzlers and thieves in Canada breath more freely, while the British Government, which had the task which the American eagle is acquiring.”The Sun says: “An interesting part of Gov. Hill’s speech at the Tilden dinner is that in which he reminds the people that the formation of the Democratic party is not now disagreement among any one, but between the one-man idea as is dead as Caesarism.
The partisans and servile admirers of Grant, Garfield, Hayes, and Arthur are politics, and they failed signally, memoria-bly, completely. There is no place for the partisans of the one-man idea.” Gov.
Hill does well to recall at this time the words of the greatest Democratic statesman of the last half century: Neither the Democracy nor the Republicans are worthy of the name that party is the best guarantee, is now, or ever can be, dependent upon any one man for continued progress in the path of noble destiny.”THE TRIBUNE.
The Tribune says: “The partisans of the partisan enforcement of the statutes. Republicans are systematically defrauded of their political rights while Democrats are never represented. Any one man can be easily elected on election day by the manipulation of the lists in the interest of their party. In plain language, the Democrats are being beaten by low trickery and contemptible cheating.
What’s done is done, in the political pocket borough of St. Louis. Why are the Republicans electoral? What would be a Republican State?”

THE HERALD.

The Herald says: “We say plainly to Mr.
Randall, one thing he cannot afford to do in this campaign is to withdraw from the field and lose all of public respect and influence which the Republicans in this contest; he cannot afford to do again what he has so often done before, and that is to come out in a Democratic House. If his party for mere obstruction are to be beaten, it would be, as everybody sees, to offer them their plan of revision, the victory, to the defeated party. He need not do this honorably without formal and publicly taking leave of the Democratic party and joining the Republicans.”

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

What Some Missouri Papers Are Saying
About It.From the Saline County Democrat.
The St. Louis Critic, a Francis paper, intimated that Ed Butler is to manage the committee in St. Louis in the interest of that gentleman, and that Noonan is to support Francis for Governor. Noonan is to support Francis for Congress. It is true, it will make a pretty kettle of water. The handsome and intelligent young Mayor of St. Louis should advise his would-be organ to shut up.

Francis v. Farmers.

From the Glasgow Journal, February 2, 1888.

David R. Francis, who will be a candidate for Governor, is a young man full of energy and ability, and is one of the best Mayors St.
Louis ever had. He is a gentleman in appearance and is wealthy.But how do the farmers of the State and those connected with them in business relate to the idea of Francis for Governor? In the high office of Governor, who has made his money in oil deals, by which the farmer is cured and ruined?

Is D. R. Francis the Man?

From the Fulton Telegraph.
We clip the following from the Mexico Evening Ledger of the 20th, sent to us marked, we suppose, to call out our opinion:“D. R. Francis of St. Louis is growing in strength as gubernatorial timber every day.
He is now worth $10,000 more per annum than he generally been on the money side of every speculation he has ever worked upon. Change of his fortune is to be worth $5 more per annum than some such a young business man as D. R. Francis is Governor.”If Francis is the man, would he not have an advantage over all the other candidates?
But how do the farmers of the State and those connected with them in business relate
to the idea of Francis for Governor? In the
high office of Governor, who has made his
money in oil deals, by which the farmer is cured and ruined?

From the San Francisco Alta.

We purchased another load of wood last week, but times are so hard and wood is so scarce that we are afraid that we cannot meet the demands of our colored friend unless we can work the sugar racket.

An Editor’s Dilemma.

From the Athens (Ga.) Register.
The most of the horses of any in the field, except Russia, were above $10,000, and $12,000. We are surprised at our small number, for so many men ride two.

Still They Are Handy to St. On.

From the Los Angeles Times.

The cost of the fences in the United States is more than the National debt; but the fences will not bear interest, and cannot be sold for more than they cost.

Mr. W. C. STEIGERS.

Will call on subscribers wishing to contract for advertising in Post-Dispatch. Telephone No.

IN SOCIETY.

ITEMS OF INTEREST ABOUT PERSONS WELL KNOWN IN ST. LOUIS.MISS BLANCHE O’REILLY’S SOIREE DANSENTE
A Leap-Year Party at Carondelet Society Notes, Personal and Chat.A handsome soiree danseuse was given last night by Miss Blanche O’Reilly, the second of a series of entertainments complimentary to her guest, Miss Mae Mac stout from Detroit. Their spacious home on Pine street was decorated for the occasion, groups of plants filling the niches and forming a background for Spiering’s orchestra, which was stationed under the stars and bowls and vases of roses and hyacinths filled the air with fragrance. In the doorways were suspended globes of smilax studded with carnations. The soiree was opened with a grand march, and pompous corollaries filled with lace.MISS UNCLE CHASE wore white faille, draped completely with China-striped gauze, very long sleeves, a high collar, and bordered lace; no skirt and white gloves.MISS POEPING was a handsome woman of medium height, wearing a black velvet dress, a wide lace collar, and a lace hem.MISS FLORENCE McMULLEN, last week to spend the remainder of the season in the South, arrived in New Orleans, where she will remain until April.MISS HAROLD Webb, the celebrated elocutionist of New York City, will make Miss Stella Krook of 316 Lafayette avenue, a visit in the early spring.

A Progressive Tea.

Mrs. J. W. Harrison of 282 Olive street gave a quiet little entertainment last night complimentary to her daughter, Miss Dora Harrison, a “Progressive Tea,” which was one of the most unique and enjoyable affairs of the season.The invitations, sent out a week ago, were upon the “one and only” pattern, paper “Great Scott,” the tea being in antique style beginning at the upper left-hand-corner, and ending at the bottom right-hand-corner.The tea was served in the usual form of “tea-for-one,” the cups and saucers being placed on the table.The tea was followed by refreshments, and then the tea was served again.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund,
a fund which was established last year.A concert was given at the hall in Kirkwood,
for the benefit of the Presbyterian organ fund, a fund which was established last year.</div

DOINGS IN THE COURTS.

A YOUNG MARRIED WOMAN REQUIRED TO GIVE SECURITY FOR COSTS.

Mrs Motion to Sue a Married Man as a Poor Person Overruled. —
The Second Trial of a Fecundity Damage Case. The Jones Habeas Corpus Proceedings and a Motion for Commis—Matters in Divorce. —New Suits Entered Under the Dome.

Judge Seddon to-day overruled a motion to sue as a poor person entered in the case of Nicholas Schmidt and wife against F. Herkert. This is the same married man whose suit was filed by a young married woman against his indentured servant on account of an indecent assault alleged to have been committed during a visit to Chicago. Mrs. Schmidt at that time was unmarried, and had accompanied her father on a trip to the Northwest, Herkert being one of the party. The case went before a jury last year, but they were unable to agree upon a verdict. The second trial is set for next Tuesday, and counsel for the defendant a week since moved that Mrs. Schmidt be required to give further security for costs. The rule was entered returnable in five days, and counsel for Mrs. Schmidt therewith moved to suspend a court person.

The husband filed an affidavit to the effect that he married the plaintiff Mary Glaser, in December, 1885, and that the suit was then pending. There were two children by their marriage and his wife had no means whatever, while his wage had been entirely consumed in supporting the family. He asked the court to award him $100 a month for his wife, but got more for filing a poor person's suit for Mr. Herkert had moved for a dismissal of the case and that will be the order unless security is furnished in court during the day.

The Cherbonnier Suit.

Judge Barley to-day called up the Cherbonnier suit, Ed. G. against his father Andrew V. Cherbonnier, involving an ante-nuptial contract for settlement of property, the conveyance of a residence. The case has been twice before the court on other divisions. It is now before the court at length, Judge Barclay. Particulars of the suit seeking specific performance of the contract have been published. A son complains that his father promised prior to his marriage to settle some residence property upon him, that he failed to do so. The other son, his wife, in the case, had made a similar promise to settle some adjoining property upon her. There was some feeling on the part of the sons as to who should be the Episcopal minister was selected for performance of the ceremony.

Separated After Six Years.

A petition for divorce was entered to-day in the Circuit Court by Mrs. J. W. Burns. They were married on the 3d of April, 1882, and they lived together until August 10, 1888. Mrs. Burns alleges that her husband absented himself without any cause and has remained absent. She has applied to the Probate Court for a decree of separation and to the Bishop of St. Louis that an Episcopal minister was selected for performance of the ceremony.

A Father in Contempt.

A citation for contempt of court issued to-day by Judge Valiant against William Jones, to appear next Monday afternoon and show cause why he should not be imprisoned. A short time since he filed the court for a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of recovering his two boys, Richard and William Jones, who were left at the home of the defendant in the Dardanelle family residing on Gay street. The father was from the State and did not present his claim for the child under the law. The death of the mother. The Court after a hearing decided that the father was entitled to the custody of his children, but on account of sickness it was ordered that they should remain for the present in the custody of the mother. The writ was issued and issued one of the boys died, and it is now alleged that the petitioner, on the afternoon of the 10th, went to the home of the other boy, William, and took him away. He will be called upon to explain on Monday.

Notes in Court.

In the matter of the assignment of the Kendall-Baily Cracker Company, the Circuit Court to-day appointed as appraisers of the stock John S. Dunham, August Manewal and M. F. Weller.

The Amherst Hol-Roll Paper Printer Company was incorporated to-day with a capital stock of $10,000, all paid. The shares are held by George E. B. Mour, Jr., G. S. Leonor and Chas. C. Hulst.

In the matter of the assignment of Ferdinand G. Foster, the Utica Manufacturing Company, she assigned to the stock the private.

Horatio N. and James H. Bell entered suit to the Circuit Court against the Fifth National Bank and Receiver Stephens to recover $347.05, the balance alleged to be due the bank. The Receiver has refused to allow the demand.

The note suit of W. J. Meares against the St. Bernard Distilling Company was filed to-day, submitted to Judge Valiant to-day.

The note sued on is for $1,000, representing a loss to the company prior to the business changing hands.

THE SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH of last Sunday was first in the number of real estate advertisements published.

SHERMAN PUNISHED.

A Series of Charges Filed up on a Saleon-Keeper.

The old maxin that it never rains but it pours, is beautifully illustrated in the case of R. L. Sherman, the saloon-keeper of No. 100 Pine street. A few days ago his wife left him. It was reported that she had eloped, but that was denied, and it was claimed that his brutalized had driven her from home. About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he was in the saloon, he was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace, they being accused of robbing a woman in the saloon. A constable took him to the police station, and he was held for debt, and this morning Judge Cady fined him and his father-in-law $3. It appears that Nelle Paul was in Sherman's wine-room yesterday, and when he came home about closing up, and a dispute arose between them about $1 which had paid her. She claimed the $1 was given her by her husband, and he was taken from the chair and robbed her of the dollar and $2.00 additional, which she possessed. Sherman and his other hand accused of robbing her of $100, and he returned the money. Officer Gross, who was called in, arrested the trio, and at the station found the woman in the room. The woman, Sergt. Lang, concluded that the men were the thieves, and charges of disturbing the peace were placed against them, while the woman was not.

Kirkwood's Concert.

Monday evening a concert will be tendered to the pupils of the Kirkwood Seminary by Charles Kunkel, Miss Lilian E. Hyde, Ernest E. Kroeger, Miss Jessie Patterson and Arthur D. Weid. The concert will begin at 8 o'clock and the doors will open at 7 o'clock. The program consists of vocal and instrumental music to be rendered by the ladies and gentlemen who are members of the Kirkwood Seminary. The women and Patterson are excellent musicians. They are from Boston and are graduates of the New England Conservatory. The concert will be divided between the new Presbyterian Church Fund and the Carpenter's Fund of Chicago.

A BIG SPLIT.

Dr. McGlynn's Speech Causes Great Excitement in the Labor Party.

New York, February 11.—The Times says: "The speech of Dr. McGlynn at Pythagoras Hall Thursday evening, breaking away entirely from Henry George and declaring that he no longer wanted him as a presidential candidate, has caused great excitement in the ranks of the United Labor party, and from the opinions expressed it is not improbable that a split will take place in the party, some taking sides with McGlynn and others with George." The Socialists are simply delighted over the quarrel between the prophet and priest of the United Labor party, and remark, wittily: "We told you so."

Charles F. Rudolph of Allentown, Kan., a general having large experience in the Indian Territory, has been spending several days visiting friends in our city. He has for many years a residence, to which he has come for the first time.

He is a man of the people, and the Volk Zeitung said that he hoped that the different labor elements would now unite in politics. He told us to the Blaine Republicans: "Few people realize what a powder magazine the Indian Territory is. Indian troubles have been frequent in the West and North, but the fact that all of sections the Indian Territory is the most threatening is not at all appreciated by those living in its immediate vicinity. But all the roads that have taken place within the last five years have been insignificant as compared with the outbreak that may take place any day in the Indian Territory, and which in my opinion cannot be long deferred. I visited Ft. Reno in January, and saw enough to convince me that the state of affairs was most unsatisfactory. The Indian Territory contains not only the civilized Indians, but the most savage bands of Indians, and the most savage bands on the plains, and the most galling one to them, and the time that has elapsed since their last chastisement has caused it to become a dim memory, and the younger men know it only as reminiscence. The worst of all the Indians are the Cheyennes, and from them the first trouble was expected. The Cheyennes and their allied tribes, the Arapahoes, have always had the reputation of being the most untameable of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

RESTLESSNESS OF THE CHEYENNES

can be in every case traced to the preponderating influence of the dog soldiers. The Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

the Cheyennes and their allies have always been the most reckless and restive of the tribes, who have constituted the most formidable enemies of the white man, and the older and more experienced chiefs of less than any other bands. In fact,

"DELICATESSEN!"

THE POPULAR LUNCH-ROOMS,
116 N. Fourth Street. 712 Olive Street 716 N. Broadway.

CITY NEWS.

Crawford's $27.50 Suit to Measure, of best imported worsteds and cassimeres, is the talk of the town. Would be cheap at $40.

Dr. E. G. Chase,

Corner of 8th and Olivestree. Set of teeth, $2.

Private masters skillfully treated and medicines furnished. Dr. Dinsmore, 611 Pine St.

Dr. W. H. Wherry, 611 St. Charles, cures diseases of indigestion, indulgence. Call or write.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

Items of Interest From the City Beyond the Big Bridge.

The Democratic primary meeting for the selection of delegates to the County Convention, which will name the representatives to go to the State convention at Mount Vernon, was held at Mount Vernon's Hall last evening. The hall was crowded and the meeting was the largest and most harmonious ever held in the city. The delegates elected were:

Maurice Joyce, J. J. Rafferty, J. M. Beach, P.
H. Stack, Jno. W. Henshaw, Wm. H. Hill, T.
A. Cancy, J. M. Sullivan, Robert J. Sullivan, Louis Menges, Jr., Jeff Daniels, Alternates:
J. J. B. W. Dwyer, Ed Winters, John Hayes, John W. H. Wherry, Wm. W. Thompson, Thos.
Burke, W. B. Walsh, Martin Egan, Pat McHale, Jno. A. Joyce, Jno. O. Butler, W. J.
Proctor, Jno. F. Neill.

Mr. George Bush introduced a resolution that delegates be instructed to vote and use their influence to secure a general delegation for Judge Dwyer at the national convention. The resolution was adopted with enthusiasm.

In the United States Court at Springfield on Tuesday, Dr. W. H. Wherry, attorney for the defendant, was rendered in the case of John H. Decker against Roderick Eramberger. The defendant had for twenty years been the owner of a piece of land comprising 700 acres, known as Cobb Island, in the Mississippi river, near East St. Louis. It shifted position from time to time, and had been flogged against the land of the plaintiff, who claimed it as a natural accretion.

John H. Decker, a man from Collin-ville road, died last evening. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 10 o'clock to St.
Peter Cemetery. She leaves a husband and four children.

District Assembly No. 200 will hold its regular monthly meeting to-morrow.

The Catholic Knights of America will hold a regular monthly meeting at St. Patrick's Hall to-morrow afternoon.

On Wednesday evening will give a ball at Hotel Hall this evening.

Samuel A. Haines of New York will deliver a temporal lecture at the Y. M. C. A. room to-morrow noon.

Mike Call and John Watson, who were rested for burglarizing David Balmer's restaurant, were released yesterday morning and bound over by Squire Bunyan last evening in the sum-of $300 each.

The SATURDAY POST-DISPATCH leads all of its competitors in the number and variety of real estate bargains offered in its advertising columns.

A PLUCKY GIRL.

Murdered His Nephew—Railroads Must Pay Taxes—Miserable Matters.

KANSAS CITY, February 11.—Miss Crooks, an employee at a photograph gallery, was waylaid on her way home last night by a footpad. She knocked a revolver out of her assailant's hand and her screams soon brought assistance. The brute escaped.

NEW YORK, February 11.—J. A. Bunyard was shot and killed on Thursday evening by his uncle, M. H. Montgomery. It was the result of an old grudge between the two men of property, and it was thought advisable to take Montgomery out of the county to a place of safety.

HANOVER, February 11.—The Circuit Court has decided that the Kokuk & Western Railway is liable for taxes and that no exemption should be allowed.

SPRINGFIELD, February 11.—F. A. Bennett, a shoemaker, was sentenced last night to the Penitentiary for burglary and larceny.

MANCHESTER, February 11.—A man, an insane county patient, escaped from a train yesterday on his way to the asylum at New Haven.

FREDOMONT, February 11.—A second fire broke out yesterday near the scene of the first, which had destroyed a grocery store and dry goods establishment.

CHILLICOTHE, February 11.—Dr. W. T.
Mahon, a dentist, dropped dead last evening in his office. He was attending a patient at the time.

Adam Roth Grocery Company, agents for Flap Jack Flour, 109 North Main street.

NOVEL CAMP-FIRE.

Arranged by Blair Post to Be Held on Washington's Birthday.

Frank P. Blair Post No. 1, G.A.R., will celebrate Washington's Birthday by holding its annual camp-fire at that day at Central Turner Hall. The comrades will post itself to make a camp-fire the largest ever held.
Army beans and bacon will be furnished by the commissary, as well as other refreshments, and a most enjoyable reunion is promised all who attend. It is intended to make the camp-fire as close a copy as possible of life in the field, and for this reason the camp-fire will be conducted in the style which can be obtained at the following places:

Sol. Behn, Post Commander, 800 Morgan street; John Behn, 14th Street; Wm. H.
Wright, corner Third and Olive streets; John Bamberger, 12 South Second Street; Adam Roth, 226 Cass Avenue, and Michael Fritz, 204 Salisbury street.

NATURE usually makes a gallant fight against disease, and when helped by Dr. J. H. Mc-Lean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier will eradicate it from the system.

Found a Treasure.

To Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, February 11.—While repairing a second-hand lounge which he bought last summer, James McGuire of Jersey City, on Wednesday, found $20 in bills. There was one $50, one $10 and two $5 bills. He informed Sgt. Bushell, the Grove Street Station, and the man who is the head of the Inspectors' department. He said he bought the lounge from James McGuire, "who works in a holler factory in this city." McGuire was seen in the same place, and he was asked to establish his claim. It is said that McGuire went home under the influence of liquor last night, and when he awoke this morning he had all his savings in the lounge, and when he got sober could not recall where he had secreted them. He and his wife, Mrs. McGuire, and one son, 14, are said to have their domestic troubles in court. McGuire is very well to do and when told of the discovery of the money, said he did not amount to much, anyway.

Brilliant and Celebrated Men,

Such as Prof. A. Proctor, astronomer; Mark Twain, humorist; Hon. William Walker, former U. S. Senator; Hon. George C. Parrot, editor and dramatist; Hon. Judah P. Benjamin, jurist and statesman, have been engaged to speak at the annual meeting of the New York Society of American Engineers and Architects. Free prospectus with testimonials from Prof. A. Loiseau, 257 Fifth Avenue, New York.

The Parisienne.

"Parisienne" held their weekly meeting Wednesday evening, and after been transacted a very pleasing business, it adjourned to its President, Mr. Dick McGinnis, for an induction speech, being designed to be delivered by him.

The Parisienne, during the past week, during the time of the strike, has been receiving the sympathy of the people of the city, and they rejoice in the success of their new

"BALBO" WON.

THE CUBAN POOL-PLAYER DEFEATS MA-LONE IN AN INTERESTING MATCH.

Malone Claims a Foul and Causes Great Excitement in the Room—Harry Phillips Arrives in Montreal With a Budget of British Sporting Gossip—American Athletes in England—The Sculling Championship—Sporting News and Notes.

No Team Wanted.

EW YORK, February 11.—Alfredo De Oro and James L. Malone met in O'Connor's billiard hall last evening to play the much talked about match for the Grote emblem of championship at fifteen-ball pool and $10 a side, best score in thirty-one games, under the rules of 1887 in this city. Mr. Arthur True of the Manhattan Athletic Club was chosen referee. De Oro opened play, each of them taking a turn at the break of English athletes, they are much mistaken. Let them representatives come over here as gentlemen, desirous of trying their strength in whatever part of the country they may choose. They will be received with a hearty welcome by the people of this country, but at the same time it is doubtful whether they will find a club who will be induced to follow their example, by yourselves. H. H. Hippodromists i.e., professionals disguised as amateurs, are not wanted here.

Sporting Notes.

In the Florida regatta yesterday Teemer beat Ham and McKay.

The London Athletic News says: The announcement that the Manhattan Athletic Club intend sending another troupe of athletes next season does not give undivided satisfaction in athletic circles generally. We have not quite forgotten the Myers & Co. hippodrome, and look forward to the arrival of the new troupe like. If the Manhattan A. C. thus obliterates the S. L. C. it will be obliterated.

London McCormack, the actor, was storytelling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at the Grand Opera-house. He was who something over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of most disastrous chances, a story that had to do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the
Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something
over a year ago married Maude Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras. The incidents of this romantic marriage have not yet been forgotten. Mr. and
Mrs. McCormack are living in St. Louis now,
and Mr. McCormack is frequently seen at the Grand. He varied the monotony of an o'er-tired tale of
most disastrous chances, a story that had to
do with war and hair-breadth escapes!

London McCormack, the actor, was story-
telling yesterday in Manager Norton's room at
the Grand Opera-house. He was who something over a year ago